

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MeridianLink Accelerates Growth and AI Innovation with Appointment of Chief Revenue Officer and Chief Transformation Officer

Industry veterans John Wiseman and Adam Gray join MeridianLink as the Company invests in accelerating innovation, increasing agility, and strengthening customer service.

IRVINE, Calif. — July 1, 2026 — MeridianLink, Inc., a leading provider of modern software platforms for financial institutions and consumer reporting agencies, today announced the appointment of John Wiseman as Chief Revenue Officer and Adam Gray as Chief Transformation Officer.

As part of this transition, Richard Scheig will transition to serve as a Strategic Advisor, effective immediately. Scheig has served as the Company's Chief Revenue Officer since 2022.

"MeridianLink is focused on accelerating growth, increasing agility, and advancing AI-powered innovation to deliver exceptional experiences for our customers, their employees, and the communities they serve," said Larry Katz, President and Chief Executive Officer of MeridianLink. "Our vision is to provide the technology that elevates the human experience for community financial institutions—combining intelligent automation, trusted AI, and our deep industry expertise to help serve customers with greater speed, confidence, and personalization. John and Adam are proven leaders with strong track records of scaling organizations, driving operational excellence, and leading transformational growth. Their leadership will strengthen our ability to execute, accelerate innovation across our platform, and further our mission of helping financial institutions deliver faster decisions, better outcomes, and stronger customer relationships."

Wiseman joins MeridianLink with more than three decades of leadership experience across financial technology, data, and analytics. He has served as CRO at Addepar, Real Capital Analytics (RCA) and FactSet where he drove sustained revenue growth and led the adoption of innovative platform solutions and services. Throughout his career, he has held senior executive positions focusing on go-to-market teams, strategic alliances, and growth initiatives.

"MeridianLink has built the market-leading platform and a large and loyal customer base and is doubling down on their investment in both innovation and service, providing a strong foundation for accelerated growth," said Wiseman. "I look forward to working alongside our talented team to help our customers grow, scale, and better serve their consumers and communities."

MeridianLink also announced the appointment of Adam Gray to a new executive leadership role, Chief Transformation Officer. In this role, Gray will lead cross-functional initiatives focused on delivering investments in innovation, growth, M&A, and AI-driven transformation.

Gray brings more than two decades of experience leading transformation initiatives for fintech and SaaS companies. Most recently, Gray helped drive a company-wide transformation at Stax Payments. Prior to his tenure at Stax, Gray led Corporate Development and transformation initiatives at Abrigo. He brings extensive experience in acquisition integration, AI adoption, customer experience modernization, and enterprise-scale change management.

"MeridianLink has tremendous momentum and a clear vision for the future of lending technology," said Gray. "I'm excited to help accelerate execution, strengthen operating discipline, and create even greater value for our customers and stakeholders."

These appointments reflect MeridianLink's continued investment in leadership and execution as the company advances its mission of helping financial institutions deliver more human financial experiences through a connected and automated technology platform.

About MeridianLink

MeridianLink's leading digital lending platform and suite of solutions help retail banks, credit unions, IMBs, and consumer reporting agencies grow, scale, and serve. Powered by smarter automation, built-in compliance, trusted AI and data, and the industry's most robust partner network, we connect consumers to a modern technology ecosystem. Our solutions across account opening, loan origination and optimization, digital mortgages, collections, and reporting accelerate processes, deliver personalized experiences, and foster lasting relationships. Together, we're making lending human.

MeridianLink Contact

Erica Bigley

Erica.Bigley@MeridianLink.com